About Wright State

The youngest of Ohio's twelve state universities has come of age. Founded in 1964 as the Dayton campus of Ohio State and Miami Universities with one building and 3,200 students, Wright State University today serves more than 14,000 students from the Dayton area, the state of Ohio, and other states and countries.

Wright State offers a comprehensive array of programs through its nine major academic divisions. Eight different bachelor's degree programs are offered in nearly eighty fields through the Colleges of Business and Administration, Education, Liberal Arts, Science and Engineering, and the School of Nursing. More than twenty programs leading to the master's degree in many of those fields are coordinated by the School of Graduate Studies. The School of Medicine has been enrolling students in its M.D. program since 1976, and the new School of Professional Psychology will begin admitting students to its Psy.D. program in 1979. The university's first Ph.D. program, in biomedical sciences, will also begin admitting students in 1979. The College of Continuing and Community Education, located in the downtown Dayton Kettering Center, offers noncredit courses and workshops and special certificate programs in professional studies.

The four oldest buildings on campus, completed by the time university status was granted in 1967, comprise Founders Quadrangle, the hub of university academic and administrative activities. The University Center houses dining rooms, lounges, student offices, and the bookstore. Hamilton Hall provides residence facilities for 320 men and women in separate wings.

The Physical Education Building's main gym is home court for the Raider basketball team, and the building also contains an auxiliary gym, a 75-foot swimming pool with a spectator capacity of 500, classrooms, a dance room, special exercise facilities for the handicapped, saunas, handball and squash courts, and a lab for physiology of exercise.

The University Library has collections of books, journals, documents, and audiovisual materials related to every teaching field, as well as special collections of rare and valuable documents and memorabilia, including the Wright Brothers Collection. The Television Center, adjacent to the library, has studios and production facilities.

The Creative Arts Center is home for the fine arts, including theatre, music, art, and art education. Besides classrooms, there are two theatres, two concert halls, and two art galleries.

The Brehm Laboratory of Environmental Sciences, the Biological Sciences Building, and the Medical Sciences Building provide classrooms and laboratories for the university's expanding programs in the sciences, especially in the health-related fields.

The Student Services Building, completed in 1977, brings together most of the offices and services which exist to help students make the most of their Wright State education. An unusual feature of the campus is a tunnel system which links every major building, providing both convenience and shelter in case of emergencies.

Wright State University has been built with a philosophy of community orientation and is continually striving to improve its present programs and activities, and add new ones, to serve community needs. The university was founded as a result of a community fund-raising effort in 1962.

Robert J. Kegerreis,
president

Robert J. Kegerreis is the second president of Wright State University. He has held the post since July, 1973.

After two years at Ohio University as professor and chairman of the marketing department, Dr. Kegerreis came to Wright State in 1969 as dean of the College of Business and Administration. In 1971, he was promoted to a vice-presidency, and two years later was named president of the university. His career as a teacher and administrator in higher education followed extensive experience in the business world.

He is a director of several corporations and a member of a number of professional associations and honorary societies.

His current public service involvement includes: president of the Ohio College Association; chairman of the Ohio Board of Regents Advisory Committee on Lifelong Learning; member of the Executive Committee and president of the Dayton-Miami Valley Board of Directors; member of the Board of Trustees and chairman of the Instruction Committee of the Methodist Theological School in Ohio; member of the Board of Trustees of Otterbein College; member of the Clarkson College Advisory Board; member of the Board of Trustees of the Engineering and Science Foundation; member of the Board of Trustees of the Dayton Art Institute; and membership in other civic organizations and committees.

Dr. Kegerreis holds four degrees from Ohio State University. He was awarded two bachelor's degrees in 1943, a Master of Business Administration in 1947 (after combat service as a naval officer), and a Ph.D. in business administration in 1968.

He and his wife, Katherine, have a son and a daughter.

Don Mohr,
director of athletics

Wright State is fortunate to have an athletic director who saw the "handwriting on the wall." When Mohr was planning the WSU athletic program, he included a women's program which equalled that of the men. Sports which receive grant-in-aid money at the present time are men's and women's basketball and swimming, women's volleyball, soccer, and wrestling.

Mohr has been associated with the world of sports since his days at Cincinnati North College Hill High School where he played football, baseball, and basketball for four years, and ran track for two years.

His first coaching position was at Cincinnati Reading High School where he was assistant coach in football and basketball. He took over the head baseball job in 1951 and did scouting for the Los Angeles (then Brooklyn) Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds during the summer.

He was appointed principal at Reading in 1956. He remained head baseball coach until 1963 and left Reading in 1965. While at Reading, he also received a Master of Education degree from Xavier University in 1961.

Then came the move to Wright State in 1966 as head of financial aid, placement, and the veterans office. He was asked to initiate an athletic program, which he did during the 1968-69 school year when he started a soccer team. In April 1971, he was named Director of Athletics.

Mohr's latest duty is chairman of the Division II Great Lakes Regional selection committee for the second straight year in basketball. He had been a member of the advisory committee for the previous four years in both basketball and baseball.

Raider Coaching Staff

Leading the Wright State basketball fortunes this season will be head coach Ralph Underhill and his assistants, Jim Brown and Bob Grote. Underhill is starting his first year as a collegiate head coach after spending the last six years as an assistant at Tennessee-Chattanooga.

Underhill was instrumental in leading UT-Chattanooga to the NCAA Division II national championship in 1976-77 with a 23-5 record. That came on the heels of a runnerup team in 1975-76 which finished with a 23-9 record.

A graduate of Tennessee Tech and Western Kentucky, Ralph spent one year as the head coach at Louisville Manual High School after a highly-successful stint as head coach at Ohio County High School in Kentucky.

While at Ohio County, Underhill led the team to a 126-30 record from 1965-71 and finished as the state runnerup in 1968-69. His team at Manual High School finished with a 24-6 record and advanced to the state tournament.

A member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes since his days at Tennessee Tech, Underhill has earned numerous coaching honors since his first job in 1965. He was the Western Kentucky High School Coach of the Year in 1969 and the Louisville Quarterback Club High School Coach of the Year in 1972.

Assisting Underhill in his first year at Wright State is associate coach Jim Brown who is starting his seventh year at Wright State. A graduate of the University of Dayton, Brown coordinates the academic standing of the varsity players as well as the recruiting for the staff. He played his high school basketball at Belmont High School under former WSU coach John Ross.

Brown came to Wright State in 1970 after a tour of duty in the Army. Among the duties assigned to Brown this season is the coordination of academic standing of the varsity players and coordinating the recruiting for the staff.

Joining Wright State as a part-time coach this year is former WSU all-American Bob Grote. The Cincinnati-native is currently a member of the New York Mets organization in professional baseball. While at Wright State, Grote lettered four times each in basketball and baseball and finished his career as the second all-time leading scorer.

Courtside Conversation—Akron

The Raiders will be out to avenge an earlier loss tonight as the Akron Zips make their 1978-79 appearance in the PE Building. Coach Ken Cunningham's team defeated Wright State in Akron January 4 by a 76-71 margin. That loss marked the beginning of a mild slump that saw Wright State drop four of six games including three in a row.

Wright State is coming off impressive wins over Bellarmine and Cleveland State and takes a 16-6 record into this evening's contest, which is being televised in Dayton (channels 16-14) as well as in Akron.

The return of Bob Schaefer to more playing time has helped the Raiders rip off five straight wins. Schaefer had missed considerable action because of bursitis in his right hip. He has not started for several games but came off the bench at Bellarmine to pump in 24 points in 30 minutes of playing time to boost WSU to its first win ever at Knights Hall in Louisville. The senior from Kettering, WSU's all-time leading scorer, again came off the bench against Division I opponent Cleveland State last Monday at UD Arena to spark the Raiders in their 70-64 triumph over the Vikings.

Schaefer continues to lead the Green and Gold in scoring. His 14.1 per game average is the best of four Raiders in double figures. Sophomore Eddie Crowe is tossing in 12.5 per game despite a bad outing from the field against Cleveland State. Senior Jimmie Carter has been the hottest Raider of late, hitting over 70% of his field goal attempts, in boosting his average to 12.1. Carter, a native of Jackson, Mississippi, is hitting a team-leading 59.3 percent of his field goal attempts on the season.

Senior Bob Cook is the fourth member of the Wright State double figure scorers. The Miamisburg High School graduate is scoring at a 10.3 per game pace and is leading the team in assists with 96. Junior Bill Wilson, if he continues his recent scoring pace, will join his four teammates in double-digits. Carter and Schaefer share the rebounding lead with five caroms each per game.

The Akron Zips have had their troubles since beating Wright State in early January. At that point, the men from the Rubber City stood at 6-3. However, poor free throw shooting (58 percent) led to a dry spell in which they lost 10 of their next 13 games. The Zips were 9-13 with two games to play earlier this week before meeting the Raiders tonight.

Akron is led by senior forward John Britton with an average of 23.3 points per game. It was Britton's 30 points in the first meeting of these teams that hurt WSU. Sophomore center Joel Price, who had 25 against Wright State earlier, is averaging 15.6 per game. Britton and Price are the only two Zips in double figures. They are also the leading rebounders on the club, Britton with 7.9 per game while Price is cleaning the boards 10.1 times per outing.

Tonight's game is the first of four straight at the PE Building to close out the regular season. Each game is important as the Raiders are very much in the thick of the race for a bid to the NCAA Great Lakes regional tournament.

Going into tonight's action, the Raiders are rated second in the Great Lakes behind Northern Michigan (17-5). St. Joseph's (Ind.) moved into the number three spot in the region following a 73-72 overtime win at home against Eastern Illinois Monday night. The EIU Panthers are rated fourth in the region this week. The first invitations for the tourney probably will be issued next Tuesday. The tourney is scheduled at the yet-to-be-named site for March 2-3. Wright State and Northern Michigan both have submitted proposals to host the Great Lakes Regional. That decision also could be made as early as Tuesday.

At any rate, the final four games of the 78-79 basketball season should be exciting as the Raiders bear down on their goal of making the tourney. Following tonight's contest, WSU entertains St. Joe's on Wednesday, February 21; Missouri-St. Louis on the 24th and Spring Arbor on Monday, February 26. The St. Joe's game and the UMSL contest are re-matches. Wright State defeated St. Joe's on the road in December and lost to UMSL in overtime on the road last month.

Wright State's basketball program is a publication of the Sports Information Office, David L. Stahl, director, and Steve Kelly, assistant director. Layout and production by Dennis Kelble, University Publications. Contributing writers Richard Fletcher, Rachel Pequignot and Brent Rutkowski, sports information office.

Huguely provides important leadership role

Senior seasons are for best of times. That's when most college basketball players reach their peak. So, Raider senior Dan Huguely was looking forward to his final season for the Green and Gold.

"All summer I worked hard on the nautilus and had planned on my senior year being my best," said the 6-8 former Roosevelt star. "I worked hard on my ball handling by dribbling in my garage with the door closed so it was dark. It helped me dribble without looking at the ball."

What Dan Huguely did not plan on was seeing action in just 186 minutes and averaging just over three points a game in his final year. Especially after a sophomore year when he averaged 9.7 points per game.

Many lesser persons would have thrown in the towel long ago, but that would be the easy way out for Dan Huguely.

"Three years ago I might have thought about transferring and going somewhere else. But, I haven't let up on myself; I still have my pride. I won't let anything get me down."

If ever there was a situation where a player could be excused for being discouraged, Huguely is in that situation right now. Just prior to the season, he had one of the best scrimmages of his career and looked ready for a possible starting spot.

Most of all, Huguely didn't plan on the improvement of players like Steve Hartings and Jeff Bragg and the appearance of Jim Pinkney on the scene. This whole combination has meant journeyman duty for Huguely.

So, just what kind of role can a senior sitting on the bench most of the time play?

Leadership for the younger players. Dan offers advice to other players like Vince Shively or Tom Holzapfel who have the same feelings.

"They (the freshmen) ask me how I do it," explained Huguely. "I just tell them there's nothing you can do. We aren't the coach and they have three more years, so don't worry."

Huguely seems to downplay his role of leadership, but it may be more important than he thinks.

"What most people don't see are Dan's contributions in practice and how he helps the team," said coach Ralph Underhill. "He's a real class individual. You need players with his kind of attitude if you are going to be a winner. Even when he's not in the game, he's pulling for the other players."

Four years ago college basketball was not even part of Huguely's thinking, even though he was a member of Roosevelt's city championship team.

"I didn't think I was good enough to play college basketball. However, I had already planned to attend college. I had applied for financial aid information because I just wanted to further my education. When I graduate next fall I want to work with kids in some area of criminal justice. Maybe a probation officer or something. I didn't have it easy as a kid, so maybe I can offer them something from my experiences."

Well, Dan Huguely did get his chance to play college basketball and there have been some very positive moments for him to reflect on in future years. He is currently among the top 10 career scorers at Wright State with 529 points. Some of his better games this season were against Akron and IUPUI. He led the team in rebounding in the first game against the Zips with his strong play off the bench. Against IUPUI, he was 5-6 from the field in 17 minutes of action.

Perhaps his time will come in the final two weeks of the season or in the NCAA tournament. When the call comes for Dan Huguely to enter the game, coach Ralph Underhill can count on him being ready for action to help the team win.

Many aspects of his game have improved since the days of long jump shots. With the three years of experience, he now waits to get completely loose before shooting from the outside. His defense and rebounding also have improved since his freshman season.

When Dan Huguely closes out his basketball career at Wright State, hopefully in the NCAA tournament, it probably will just be the beginning of a career. Individuals like him, unfortunately, are few and far between.

Dan Huguely

This Year: Dan has seen action in 18 games this year while going after his fourth varsity letter. After averaging nearly 10 points per game as a sophomore, Dan has seen his scoring average fall to 3.3 as a senior. However, he has still played a key role in several games this year for WSU. He played 31 minutes in the first Northern Kentucky game which the Raiders won in overtime, 74-69, and scored six points along with five rebounds. When Steve Hartings sprained an ankle, Huguely stepped in against Akron to score 8 points for one of the few bright spots in the 76-71 loss. His season-high this year was a 10-point output against IUPUI on a 5-6 night from the field. Although he does not qualify for national ranking, Dan is the leading free throw shooter on the team with a 93.8 percentage on 15 of 16 shots. His best game at Wright State was a 25-point effort against Northeastern Illinois as a sophomore. His 529 career points rank him 10th on the all-time scoring list.

Coach's Evaluation: "Dan runs well for his size and shoots the ball well facing the basket. His range for percentage shooting is from 15-20 feet. If he stays free from injuries and improves his rebounding, he could help us in the front court. We have been working with his strength for him to become more effective inside."

Personal: Full name—Dan Huguely. Age 21 (born April 8, 1957). College: Liberal Arts (major—urban studies). The son of Willie and Evelene Sanders, Dan has three older sisters. He lettered in basketball (2) at Roosevelt and scored 15.1 points per game in his senior year on a team which finished 20-2 and won the city championship. He played in the Midwest All-America Classic for the Dayton All-Stars at Hara Arena after his senior year.

Alumni Association

Each year the Alumni Association is proud to present the traditional awards to senior athletes and others for their outstanding participation on our university's intercollegiate teams. Our support and recognition of progress is not limited to plaques and handshakes, however. Look for the Game Ball Raffle Ticket Sales. They are paying for the team's basketballs. Notice who is sitting around you in the stands. More alumni are buying discount season tickets through the Association.
